Jewish Cemetery Horn

Data

Description

The Jewish community of Horn opened this cemetery in 1873; the site, situated behind the company Swietelsky, was previously occupied by the small village of Riedenburg with fortifications and a church. Around 110 graves can be found here on a forest-like plot. The small neo-gothic burial hall located on the left side of a more recent cemetery building is worthy of note. The cemetery is kept locked. The key can be obtained from the Jewish Community Vienna by appointment.
